USAID's Office of Food for Peace Launches 2016-2025 Food Assistance and Food Security Strategy

On October 10, 2016, USAID's Office of Food for Peace, the largest provider of food assistance in the world, is marking a milestone: it's launching a new 10-year food assistance and food security strategy. Developed in partnership with stakeholders such as The TOPS Program, the strategy reaffirms a shared vision of a world free of hunger and poverty, and lays out a direction for improving and sustaining both food and nutrition security for some of the world's most vulnerable people.

The TOPS Program was made possible by the generous support and contribution of the American people through the United States Agency for International Development (USAID). The contents of this newsletter do not necessarily reflect the views of USAID or the United States Government.

The FSN Network is being spearheaded by TOPS, a USAID/FFP funded program seeking to build the capacity of FFP grantees and other food security and nutrition implementers. The program is working to improve the quality of implementation through fostering collaboration, innovation, and knowledge sharing around food security and nutrition best practices.
